almost killed. He could not walk the next day. John Ballard stayed at our house after that till my husband returned.

"Forty-two years have passed since those times. I have seen our country rapidly settling and improving. There were but eleven families in Carroll county in 1826. One generation has passed away, another has succeeded. There are but two families left whose united heads still live,—Abner Robinson and ours.

"A few of the old settlers have emigrated to distant lands, but the greater number have passed to that bourne from whence no traveler returns. We who are left expect soon to cross the river and join them in that better land, where sickness and sorrow, pain and death are feared and felt no more."

BURLINGTON OLD SETTLERS' SOCIETY.

The Burlington Old Settlers' Society was organized in the year 1871, at Burlington, and is composed of pioneers of the counties of Carroll, Clinton and Howard. The officers were: William Runnion, president; Dudley Millner, vice-president, and Samuel C. Rodkey, secretary. John T. Gwinn, S. C. Rodkey, Clark Gwinn, Susie Anderson, Catharine Smith, James Stonebraker, Sarah E. Robertson, Samuel Fellows, Lydia Harmon, B. Stockton, J. A. Miller, Hannah Miller, O. M. Barnard, Joseph Gwinn, J. M. Darnell, William Harness, Harvey Runion, J. L. Johnson, Isaac Watson, Samuel Weaver, Robert Johnson, A. G. Moore, J. T. Johnson, J. C. Smith and others were members of the society. The meetings are held on the last Saturday of August, at Burlington, and immense crowds attend. The president, James L. Johnson, died on August 3, 1915.

THE YETI COLLECTOR'S LOGIC

as late as 1807 has been thought by some to warrant the assertion that no permanent settlers had located here prior to that date.

The best information places it beyond any doubt, that in the year 1805 permanent settlements were made in this township. Whether any had preceded them is not now known, but there is a traditionary account that when they came they found permanent settlers here, who had apple orchards bearing fruit, etc. But the absence of all evidence supporting this account, and the fact that it would make the date of these settlements antedate the treaty of peace by Gen. Wayne with the Indians of this part of Ohio, it is undoubtedly an error, and we are satisfied that the settlers of 1805 were among the first who permanently settled in the township.

In that year, 1805, William Runyan and family, John Layman and family, James Hill and family, Henry Runyan and family, Isaac Runyan and family, John Goodpasture and Solomon Goodpasture and families, David Randall and family, and perhaps others, settled in this township.

William Runyan came from Harrison County, Virginia, where he had emigrated from New Jersey. He settled on the farm just south of Butlerville, known as the Doughman farm, and now owned by Samuel Craig, Esq. Little knowledge of his life before he came to Ohio can be ascertained, the family records, together with every thing he had, having been destroyed by the Indians, who attacked and burned his dwelling while he resided in Virginia.

He was born in New Jersey about the year 1757, and was married to a Miss Custer, (the marriage occurring, probably, after he came to Virginia). There were born to this marriage several children, who came with him to Ohio, Henry and Isaac having been married before coming to this state.

William Runyan continued to reside on the land where he first settled, until his death, which occurred in 1833, his wife having died in 1826.

John Layman, (or Leaman, as it occurs in some records,) who came the same year, 1805, with his family, located on the land adjoining the land occupied by William Runyan, and now known as the John Brown farm, where he resided for many years. He also came from Virginia. His name appears on the record as one of the viewers of the Smalley's Mill Road, one of the first roads established in this township.

John and Solomon Goodpasture and their families, who came about the same time, perhaps in the same party, settled on the farm near Crosson's Cemetery, on Ford Creek. It is believed they were originally from Virginia, but came from Kentucky to this State.

James Hill settled on the farm now or recently owned by Jonathan Fox, Esq., about one-half mile north of Pleasant Plain. He was, perhaps, the first Justice of the Peace in the township. He also came from Virginia.

David Randall (or Randolph) also came from Virginia, and located on the farm now owned by Mrs. Quick, south of Butlerville.

John Martin settled here about the same year. He located on a part of the land near the residence of David H. Smith, Esq., on the creek, which was afterwards named after him, Martin's Run. He resided here many years, and built and operated the first distillery, perhaps, in the township.

After the year 1805 the population increased very rapidly, and little more can be attempted here than to mention the names, merely, of some of those of whom it has been possible to learn any facts.

In 1806, it is probable that Bernard Crosson, Lewis Severs and Joseph Severs and others settled near Edwardsville in this township. Lewis Severs for many years kept a tavern and store, perhaps the first in the township.

William Crosson, Sen., came to Ohio during the year 1806, and settled in or near Edwardsville, in this township, with his parents, about that time. He was born near Gettysburg, Franklin Co., Pa., in 1795, and was about eleven years of part. But there is a traditionary account that in the early history of the township, there yet remained undoubted indications which satisfied the pioneers that the field had been the site of an ancient burial place, used by the Indians, or those who preceded them.

The writer is not aware that any effort has ever been made to determine the accuracy of the tradition connected with this supposed cemetery. Such a thing would not be attended with great difficulty, and possibly might lead to valuable discoveries. As it is, the above is given as narrated to the writer by individuals residing in the vicinity.

Generally throughout the township, flint arrow-heads, stone axes and other implements and relics of stone are found in considerable numbers.

EARLY ROADS.

When the first settlers of whom we have any account came to this township, they found the land covered with forests, and in most parts with a dense undergrowth of "bush," as it was called by them; and to reach the interior of the township, "ways had to be cut through this 'bush.'"

In 1807, when John Liggett and party settled in this township, they were compelled to "hack a way through this bush" from near Mounts Station on the Little Miami River to near where Rossburg now is. It is probable that these ways continued to be used as highways until permanent roads were established.

The earliest road established by authority of law, in the township, of which there is any record, was laid out in 1809, about four years after permanent settlements are known to have been made. In that year a road was laid out by the County Commissioners from Waldsmith's Mill, near Milford, to Smalley's Mill, on Todd's Fork, near where Clarksville now is, William Runyan, James Hill, John Leaman and others being petitioners for the same. A survey and plat of this road are preserved, but as the monuments were "mile trees," which no longer exist, the exact line of the road as laid out is not certainly known. The writer has recently had occasion to examine carefully the records of the early roads in the vicinity, and it is his opinion that this road, which was known as Smalley's Mill Road, was laid out practically on the line afterwards followed by the old State Road of 1822.

In the same year, 1809, a road was laid out from McCray's Mill (now Stubb's Mill, three miles west of Morrow,) "by way of First Creek to the Salt Works in Clermont County." This road followed First Creek from a point near Rossburg to the Clermont County line, and passing through what was then the most populous part of the township, was instrumental, no doubt, in drawing considerable custom to the mill of McCray & Co., by whom the road was probably projected and obtained.

This condition of things, which contributed so liberally to the interests of McCray & Co., was destined, however, to be of short duration, for, in the following year, 1810, we discover the enterprising spirit of Isaac Stubbs, who owned a mill at Millgrove, petitioning for and obtaining a road from his "mill by way of Salem," (Roachester,) "Todd's Fork, Second Creek, to Goodpastures on First Creek, and there to intersect the road from McCray's Mill to the Salt Works," etc., thus tapping the feeder to McCray's Mill, and, undoubtedly, drawing largely on his trade, as Salem was the chief trading point south of the river. This road still remains.

The old State Road (now abandoned) from Columbus to Cincinnati, was surveyed and established through this township October 10, 1822. A small portion of this road from near Black Hawk, by way of the residence of Israel Lundy, Esq., and the old site of Edwardsville, yet remains. The general line of the road was a little east of the present turnpike, and the old grade is in many places easily traced. This road was abandoned and vacated when the Goshen, Wilmington and Columbus Turnpike was built.

From a letter of Oscar Runyon, Steelton, N.J. Aug. 12, 1941 that he living on the old property of the RUNYON Homestead built in 1706 or 1736 and occupied continually by some member of the RUNYONS for many generations.

"He says he has located on the Raritan River the original farm of Vincent Roignon this property was willed by him to his son Vincent Runyon, Jr. and then passed out to a family named SMOCK. and has located the farms of Vincent the first son Peter and Peter's son Benjamin. Also the family burying plot with many Runyon graves. He also dug up the minutes of the First Baptist church of Piscataway beginning 1781. Previous records were destroyed during Revolutionary War. "This church being the second oldest Baptist Church in America. "While he has no proof but safe to say that the earlier Runyons were members, workers, and contributors because the Records from 1781 show them very prominent from then to the present day" The records are now Raritan Township Public Library at Piscatawaytown, N.J. as Rutgers at N.B. and the Library at Trenton desire copies. " He further says that the clerk of the church drew a diagram of the church showing the pulpit and pews 34 in number 27 being rented with the name of holder and amount subscribed for same. there were four Runyons, viz., Peter, Daniel, Enoch (Mr. Oscar's gr. great grandfather) and Asa. all sons of Benjamin Runyon this diagram was the first of the church built in 1748 torn down and one built in 1825 and this was destroyed by fire in Jan. 1851 by Dec. 1851 the congregation had erected a new one on the site and it was destroyed by fire so another built in colonial style the fourth building. "A hasty glance through material readily at hand shows that Hugh Runyan is mentioned in Stryker, New Jersey official register; Stryker, Monographs of the Revolution; Hall, History of the Presbyterian Church, Trenton, New Jersey; and "A history of Trenton". The librarian gathered that Hugh Runyan was assistant-quarter-master, then quarter-master during the Revolutionary War. was a druggist living in Trenton at that time, more particularly in Lambertton, then a separate village but now a part of Trenton. He was a contributor to and possibly a member of the Presbyterian Church. He was of a French-Huguenot family." "He later removed to Kingwood, New Jersey, and died there. A Hugh Runyan bought a ferry patent and 496 acres of land below Trenton in 1779. Dr. Hall says that he had seen a deed of 1799 in which Hugh Runyan conveyed land to his son, Daniel C. Runyan of Nottingham. Nottingham was the name of a township, a large part of which is now absorbed in Trenton."

Stonewood

At the close of World War II, residents of Stonewall and Norwood, adjoining communities lying east of Clarksburg, decided to incorporate as one town. The Elk Creek Development Company, with Howard White as manager, in 1910 had named the land the company had laid off in lots "Stonewall Park";⁷⁹ residents living near the New Fairgrounds had named their town "Norwood." The two communities invited the children enrolled in the local school to enter a contest to choose a name for the new municipality. Sixth-grader Charles Childers of Norwood School won the contest with a word which combined portions of the name of each of the two communities, "Stonewood." The town was incorporated December 17, 1947. Citizens vote biennially to select a five-man council and other officials.

Immediately after incorporation, town officials arranged with the Monongahela Power Company to install street lights and in 1948 assisted the citizens in organizing a volunteer fire department. The town financed a $235,000 water distribution system, completed in 1950, to furnish residences with water purchased from the Clarksburg Water Board. In 1952-53, citizens volunteered labor to build a cement-block city building on Southern Avenue. The fire department and the city offices are housed in the structure.

Out of current revenue, the city has blacktopped two and a half miles of streets and has built a city playground. In 1965, with 50 percent of the $856,000 cost supplied by the federal government, the town installed a sewage interceptor system.

West Milford

Jesse Lowther, the founder of West Milford, was the first white child born in the "Lowther" settlement which lay a short distance north of the present town of West Milford. Richards Fort near Sycamore protected the settlers—William Runion, Conrad and Isaac Richards, Charles and Isaac Washburn, Richard Kincheloe, John Neeley, James Kain, John Yerkey, William Carder, George Post, Jacob McConkey, William Lowther and Lowther's sons, Robert, Thomas, William, Jesse, and Elias⁸⁰—in that the Lowther family, on answering a knock at their cabin door, found outside the Widow Maxwell and her four young sons whose descendants were destined to contribute much to the development of Harrison County.⁸¹ The husband of Mrs. Maxwell had wandered into the woods while the family camped near Morgantown and had not returned, apparently the victim of Indian attack.⁸²

"West Milford was laid out about 1815 by Jesse Lowther assisted by Samuel Hoff."⁸³ In 1817, Jesse Lowther sold two acres of the 130 acres he had secured from George Bush in 1807 to Samuel Clemens and Jacob Romine so that the two men could build a dam across the West Fork River and a gristmill and sawmill. The eight-foot dam Clemens and Romine built backed the river up for a distance of seven miles, thus giving the mill so much power that a community began to grow around the industry. On January 15, 1821, the Virginia Assembly enacted, "That ten acres of land on the West Fork River, the property of Jesse Lowther in the County of Harrison, as the same is already laid off into lots and convenient streets, shall be established a town by the name of Milford, and that Robert Lowther, Jacob Coplin, and Robert Maxwell, Gentlemen, be and they are hereby appointed trustees thereof." The shallow water below the mill dam, where the settlers crossed the river, made Milford a fitting name for the new town. Post office officials decided in 1833 to discontinue the office they had

Runyan data supplemental

Henry Runya, Elijah Runyan, William Runyan, b. 1757; John Runyan b. 1747, d. December 7, 1807 is buried in the old Hopewell Baptist cemetery near Clarksburg, W.Va.

These four brothers at least moved westward to Harrison Co., W.Va. where they are shown in census of 1784-85.

John Runyan was frequently mentioned in Harrison County, history; where he lived and died.

"(In Whithers's Chronicles of Border Warfare") edited and annotated by Reuben Gold Thwaites," "On page 419 we note this statement;" on the 24th of July 1794 six Indians visited the West Fork River, at the mouth of Freeman's Creek met with, and made prisoner a daughter of John Runyan. "She was taken off by two of the party of savages, but did not go more than ten or twelve miles before she was put to death", She had gone to the spring to get water; two of the Indians were hidden behind a large tree, she passing by they grabbed her; and alarm was sounded among the neighbors a great "posse" followed the Indians at night-fall, they could hear her pitiful screams, sobbing and crying, but they could not get close to rescue her. They found her body next day, she had been brutally murdered and scalped."

Frederick*
"It was said his brother John Runyan, Jr. vowed that he would kill any Indian he saw afterwards this murderous tragedy, but the Indians heard of this vow; so they in a trick scheme stole the cow-bell off the cow of Runyan's herd and took the bell in woods ringing as if on the cow awaiting for Mr. Runyan to come after the cows at eventide, so he had gone in that direction of the sounding of the bell there they attacked him with their tomahawks, in which he with his gun put a big fight with them in the struggle but they killed him and scalped left lying his body was found afterwards his gun showed marks of tomahawks marred the stock of gun. He is probably buried with his father and sister in Hopewell Baptist cemetery near Clarksburg, W.Va."

(We note John Runyan came to Ohio in 1808)
We are of the opinion that John Runyan, the father resided in the south end of the county, on West Fork River south of Clarksburg. In the First Census of Harrison Co., W.Va. John Runyan is listed with a family of seven. He was a constable. This census was taken in 1784. William Runyan and Elijah Runyan are listed too. These three Runyans lived either on Eek Creek or on West Milford. At the same time Henry Runyan, was listed as living in the Buckamon settlement. John Runyan is listed from 1784 to 1797. The last date we find of John Runyan in the tithable lists is in 1807. The lists for 1808 are missing and in 1809 Susannah Runyan is listed in Federal census with a family of four including herself. Others moved away and two deceased or three her husband.
